DOMESTIC VIOLENCE FACTS

WHY IT MATTERS

Domestic violence is the willful intimidation, assault, battery, sexual assault, or other abusive behavior perpetrated by an intimate partner against another.<sup>1</sup> It is an epidemic affecting Americans in all communities, regardless of age, economic status, race, religion, nationality or educational background. The impact of domestic violence on survivors, their children, and the community is detrimental. Stronger anti-violence laws and training for police and court personnel strengthen the criminal justice system's response to domestic violence. Community programs, shelters and education programs for youth, local businesses, and professionals protect survivors from future victimization and prevent the continuation of the cycle of violence from generation to generation.

DID YOU KNOW?

- Domestic violence has been estimated to cost employers in the United States $3-13 billion each year.<sup>19</sup>

NATIONAL COALITION AGAINST DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

Every Home A Safe Home

The Public Policy Office of the National Coalition Against Domestic Violence (NCADV) is a national leader in the effort to create and influence Federal legislation that positively affects the lives of domestic violence victims and children. We work closely with advocates at the local, state and national level to identify the issues facing domestic violence victims, their children and the people who serve them and to develop a legislative agenda to address these issues. NCADV welcomes you to join us in our effort to end domestic violence.

STATE DOMESTIC VIOLENCE LAWS

- States differ on the types of relationships that qualify under domestic violence laws. Most states require the perpetrator and victim to be current or former spouses, currently or formerly reside together, or have a child in common. A significant number of states include current or former dating relationships in domestic violence laws.
- Both the civil and criminal justice systems address domestic violence. In the civil system, the victim can obtain an order of protection against the abuser and address child custody matters. In the criminal system, the state prosecutes the abuser for domestic violence crimes, and in that process, the victim may obtain an order of protection against the abuser.

IF YOU NEED HELP

If you or someone you know is in an abusive relationship and wants help, please call the National Domestic Violence Hotline at 1-800-799-SAFE or the National Sexual Assault Hotline at 1-800-656-HOPE.

HOW TO HELP

There are numerous ways to help in the effort to end domestic violence.

- Contact your Members of Congress urging them to support additional funding for domestic violence programs through the Violence Against Women Act, the Victims Of Crime Act Fund, and the Family Violence Prevention and Services Act.
- Work with policy advocacy organizations to influence your state legislature to pass progressive domestic violence laws and ensure that local programs receive state funding for prevention and intervention services.
- Volunteer at a domestic violence shelter or make a donation to a local program.
- Serve as a language translator for local domestic violence programs.
- Offer professional services such as fund raising, legal services, tax preparations for survivors, event planning experience or other services you may have available to donate.
- Educate your community and arrange speaking engagements at schools, churches, or civic groups to address the problem of domestic violence.
- Become a member of a local, state or national DV advocacy organization to learn more about what is happening in the effort to stop domestic violence in your community and country.
